QuickVersion

Product Description

QuickVersion, developed by RBRO Solutions, allows a user to make one Autonomy iManage WorkSite document a new version of another existing WorkSite document without having to export and reimport the document.

Typical Scenario

Within an organization, a document is edited by multiple people. If someone has the document checked out, the latest edits have to be saved as a new document.

When the document is finally checked in, it is possible to use WorkSite's feature "import as new version". However, you must export the document to your hard drive and re-import it.

QuickVersion Solution

With QuickVersion, simply highlight both the new document and the original document. Right-click and select QuickVersion from the context menu. The QuickVersion dialog box appears to assist you in choosing which document will be the new version of which existing document. Once the documents are selected and in the correct field, click the [OK] button to execute.

QuickVersion allows you to save this current document as a new version of another document and save time by avoiding the typical export/import process.

If the documents are in the wrong field, simply switch them with the click of a button.
